Our Guests

Fiona Hughes M.D. is a medical advisor, researcher, and writer on health issues at Idea Couture, an international innovation and design firm. She also sees patients in her private health counseling practice. After completing her BA in cultural studies at Trent University, she went on to train in both conventional and anthroposophical medicine at the University of Witten/ Herdecke, Germany. Fiona grew up in a Waldorf household, the child of two Waldorf teachers, and is a graduate of the Toronto Waldorf School. She currently lives in Toronto with her partner, a CBC journalist, two teenage children, and their affectionate beagle. She is always on the lookout for more opportunities to bring alchemical processes back into the kitchen and to the practice of healing.

Heather Brown Heather Brown & her husband are parents of four Kelowna Waldorf School graduates. She is a registered physiotherapist with a 35 year career in rehabilitation and senior's health. As well, she has been active in parent education at the Kelowna Waldorf School. She has completed her level 1 Spacial Dynamics training & is currently a Level 3 candidate. Heather has an interest in the relationships between Steiner's body of work and Spacial Dynamics.

EveLynn Debusschere is a teacher with a BA in Waldorf Education and a diploma in Remedial Education from Rudolf Steiner College in Sacramento, CA. She has worked as a class teacher for 16 years and a Remedial Teacher for two years. Her children have attended the Kelowna Waldorf School, where her grandson is currently enrolled.

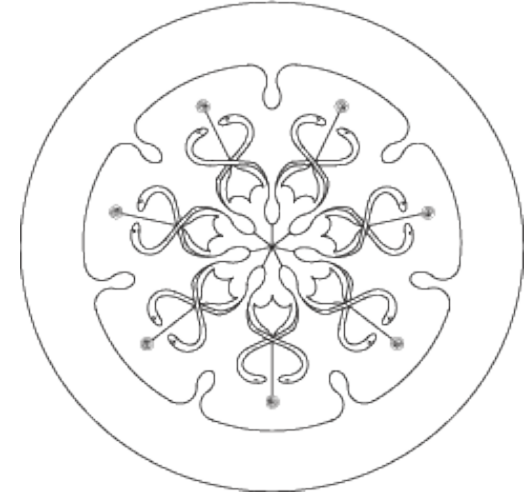

Gabe Cipes is Director of the Biodynamic Associations of BC and a director of the Certified Organic Associations of BC and of Demeter Canada. Gabe is in his 7th year practicing biodynamics at Summerhill Pyramid Winery. He sources and creates the 9 Biodynamic preparations and applies them to the vineyards and gardens. Gabe keeps chickens and bees, he over sees an intensive vegetable garden for the onsite bistro as well as plants forest gardens and nature corridors for wildlife and pollinators. Gabe identifies most of the wild plants growing in the Okanagan, making medicinal salves and teas for sale at the winery. Working with the natural world for Gabe is a deeply humbling honour and the more he learns the more he is mystified by the interconnections and relationships between humanity, nature and the cosmos.

Phyllis Cannell born in Victoria, B.C. grew up in a family where parents and all 6 sisters sang in choirs and played instruments. Formally trained on piano and violin, self-taught on ukulele, guitar, Choroi flute and lyre. Mother of 4, 2 sons and 2 daughters. Found Waldorf education for my sons in 1985, have been involved with Kelowna Waldorf School ever since. Eurythmy accompanist since 1991, up to present. Worked as Preschool and KG assistant for 10 years. Continue to work as Music Director at Unitarian Church in Kelowna, now for 20 years. Teaching music lessons has long been a delight, many years of sharing my experience on piano and guitar.

Barbara Articus grew up in Germany and moved to Canada in 1991 where she raised two children and lives on a beautiful farm with her family.. Barbara carries a German degree in Fine Arts (Fiber Arts, sculpture) and a diploma as an art therapist. She has been involved in anthroposophical studies and Waldorf Education for many years and is working at Cedar Bridge School in Lumby 10 years now. Barbara has extensive experience in working with groups as well as one on one, both with adults and children.

An Introduction to the Nature of Healing...with Fiona Hughes M.D.

What does Rudolf Steiner mean when he describes our organs as an inner planetary system, the human being as a seven-fold metal, and that in anthroposophical medicine we heal with processes? Using Steiner's physiological concept of the seven life processes as a starting point, we will explore how with conscious effort we can work with these processes to become healthier. During this weekend we will also look to a number of classic Grimm's Fairytales, and work to understand the therapeutic qualities of the seven metals in light of the fairytale characters.

*The sun gives light to the plants,
For the sun does love the plants,
So one man gives soul-light to others
When he loves them.*

Rudolf Steiner
